

Cookie policy

When we provide services, we want to make them easy, useful and reliable. Where services are delivered on the internet, this sometimes involves placing small amounts of information on your device, for example, a computer or mobile phone. These include small files known as cookies. They cannot be used to identify you personally.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that websites save to your computer.

These pieces of information are used to improve services for you through, for example:

- Remembering settings, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you visit a new page
- Remembering information you've given (e.g. your postcode) so you don't need to keep entering it
- Measuring how you use the website so we can make sure it meets your needs

To learn more about cookies and how to manage them, visit AboutCookies.org.

How we use cookies

First-party cookies (cookies set by us);

These are cookies set by this website. Some are necessary to the functionality of the site, others provide information to us that we analyse to monitor and improve the site. These first-party cookies do not store or collect any personal information or anything that makes you personally identifiable to us. Typically, the cookies generate a random, unique number to store information about a user.

If you have any further questions about our use of cookies please email us at the practice.

Third-party cookies (cookies set by other websites through this site);

We want to provide interesting and engaging content on our website. On a number of pages we use 'plug ins' or embedded media. For example, we embed Google Maps in our pages. The suppliers of these services may also set cookies on your device when you visit the pages where we have used this type of content. These are known as 'third-party' cookies.

From time to time we may add functionality to our site e.g. surveys, comparisons etc., and these often come from 3rd parties – we will endeavour to ensure full disclosure of any cookies.

How to control and delete cookies

We will not use cookies to collect personally identifiable information about you. However, if you wish to restrict or block the cookies which are set by our websites, or indeed any other website, you can do this through your browser settings. The 'Help' function within your browser should tell you how.

Alternatively, you may wish to visit the About Cookies website, which contains comprehensive information on how to do this on a wide variety of browsers. You will also find details on how to delete cookies from your machine as well as more general information about cookies.

Oakwood Dental Surgery Cookie Policy

Please be aware that restricting cookies may have an impact upon the functionality of our website.